Interacting with people from all over the world on a daily basis both inside and out of the office really opens one's eyes to the different customs, cultures and traditions. It becomes a learning experience, one which no book could ever teach you. Experiencing the diversity truly has been one of the most prominent highlights of my Cayman experience to date.”

Career Development and Success

Deloitte's success depends upon hiring the best people and investing in their ongoing development. This means that as your career goals change and grow, we can support you with the knowledge, skills and education you will need to keep advancing. Throughout your career at Deloitte Cayman, both professional and personal development is progressed by undertaking challenging work supported by great colleagues.

Through our professional development policy, we encourage our staff to take advantage of professional development programs and support those interested in working towards additional designations that will help to benefit their career development. Our people's success is the firm's success, and we encourage staff to take the initiative in their careers whenever possible.

Performance Management

Talent has a way of rubbing off on people. Which is why, thanks to our Performance Management Approach (PMA) programme, the great people who join have a habit of becoming outstanding people at Deloitte.

Our PMA programme is a strategic and integrated process of setting, tracking and measuring individual performance objectives against organizational goals and competencies—those skills that lead to business success. This approach helps to develop the capabilities of individuals and teams to deliver sustained success to organizations. The programme also allows you to gain the feedback you need to develop your skills.

We also encourage our people to talk to their more experienced colleagues, at all levels, to receive guidance and advice on any questions they might have.

Support

Making the move to a new office or company can require some adjustments—and those adjustments can be magnified with a move to a new country as well. Our "Ambassador" program partners you with a current staff member to help you adjust and settle in to your new career with Deloitte Cayman even before you arrive on the island. The system is especially valuable during your first few weeks in the office, and is great for introducing you to the social side of the firm and the island.

Giving Back to the Community

Our culture allows staff to grow professionally and personally through community involvement guided by our firm's values. Deloitte Cayman has been generously supporting worthy causes within the wider community for many years. Our objectives are to support and have a positive impact on community initiatives and worthy causes within the Cayman Islands, and to encourage our people to participate in activities that help achieve these aims. We support our community through:

- Donations
- Volunteering
- Pro bono services
- Board appointments on not-for-profits
- Green initiatives

Deloitte IMPACT Day

Deloitte Cayman participates in the annual Deloitte IMPACT Day, which reinforces the global organisation's and member firms' overall commitment to community involvement. A day is set aside each year to celebrate and recommit to the community for the upcoming year. Staff collectively volunteer their time at one of several organisations in need of assistance. "We have received nothing but positive feedback from the staff who participated and the organisations and people who benefited from IMPACT Day," says Audit partner Michael Pilling (now retired). "Our firm's strong view is that it is our responsibility to give back to the community."

Sports and Social

You know what they say about all work and no play! To help ensure our staff have the right balance; our Social Committees organise annual events such as the Holiday Party and Beach Day. The firm also sponsors sporting events that our staff can get involved in. With all of these options, there's always something going on in the office to look forward to and participate in!

Assurance and Advisory

In the Cayman Islands, our people work in a range of onshore and offshore financial service sectors, with the majority of our audit clients falling into financial services and alternative investment vehicles such as mutual and hedge funds as well as special purpose vehicles. We also have a large number of captive insurance and banking clients.

We aim to provide the best possible service to our clients by having professionals with the relevant qualifications, experience and skills on our teams. We achieve this by ensuring our people are equipped with specialist financial skills, particular knowledge of industry issues and relevant support and experience. We train our professionals to be the best because in today's challenging and competitive environment, our clients require the best advice available to them. By listening to our clients' individual needs, we consider the business implications and tailor our solutions accordingly.

We provide clients with professional advice and assurance on their controls and accounting systems all year round. We understand our clients' operations, their industry and the issues they face, enabling us to provide them with relevant advice. The combination of our specialist skills, industry expertise and ongoing investment allows us to anticipate complex business problems for our clients and recommend preventative action.

Services provided to clients range and may include some of the following:

- Audit and assistance in financial statement preparation in accordance with International Auditing Standards or those generally accepted in the United States, Canada or the United Kingdom
- Special purpose reviews and interim financial statements
- Coordination of multinational engagements and internal control reviews
- Consultation on accounting for complex financial instruments
- Consultation on investment company startup
- Advice on selection of service providers
- Consultation on segregated portfolio companies

All audit work is conducted on our innovative AuditSystem/2—a high-tech, computer based audit system utilising the underlying technologies of our client Microsoft. Comprehensive training on the package commences as soon as you join the office and continues with updates throughout your employment with us. For those who seek it you will have the opportunity to take on responsibility quickly, while being supported and listened to by the firm's managers and partners. You will also be given frequent constructive feedback to aid your progression, ensuring that you have an input into the direction and pace of your own development.

Secondments to clients' offices in Cayman and abroad are a regular feature of your role in the audit department. These situations occur when a client requires assistance with a particular assignment or has a short-term need. These secondments provide our staff with very useful experience and an insight into the workings of that company. You may also have the opportunity to supplement your audit experience with a temporary transfer to other departments.

Tax

The Cayman Islands are a tax-free jurisdiction; however our clients are offshore companies operating around the world. The International Tax Services team works with our clients to minimise their tax liabilities and ensure their organisation complies with local, federal and international tax law. We offer a fresh look at our client's tax position with an eye towards broader business objectives, working closely with them to understand their global goals and strategies and how industry and economic trends affect their business. We provide a wide range of tax planning and compliance assistance to hedge funds, captive insurance companies and individuals. We also develop tax strategies to help streamline compliance processes.
